AN UNSOLICITED APPROVAL

Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs Historian Harriett Geywits

The Mercury published many letters to the editor, especially during the summer resort season. Many were reports from newspaper people who were visiting and wrote on their stay here with their comments to appear in their own publications. Occasionally, there was a letter to a major newspaper of the day from a citizen expressing the need for, and the outcome of, a visit to Richfield Springs. The following was such a letter, published in 1892 in the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette, and reprinted in the Mercury:

“Dear Gazette: I would like to give my impressions, unsolicited, of a place where exhausted people may undergo the recreating process and where they may leave ten years of their lives behind them and come forth renewed in body and mind.

After the fret and friction, wear and tear of daily existence from the long months of our New England winters, where the climate, the best in the world, is such that even the sturdiest of physicians quail under its vacillations - we approach our summer with diminished vitality.

Let me cite briefly my own experience. The head of our household, whose profession was a most laborious and confining one, had endured the undermining effects of our latest scourge, ‘la grippe.’ As for myself, I was in that condition known to all housekeepers who hold the responsible position of mater familias, and could echo the lament of David, who was ‘as a man that hath no strength’, only in this case it was a woman. Something must be done.

After numerous cogitations and family conclaves, we find ourselves seated on a bright morning in one of the most palatial drawing-room cars taken at the Albany station on route for Richfield springs, Otsego County, N.Y. Instead of dividing our journey and stopping overnight at Albany, we discover we can easily make it in one day and so we prefer to change at Utica at six o’clock and take the remaining hour and a half in the most charming part of the day.

I shall never forget the restful, delicious ride up to Richfield in the cool freshness of early twilight when every mile brought us nearer the goal of our expectations and into the sulphur laden atmosphere, of which now and then a whiff reached us, just enough to make the novelty a fascination. By that mysterious something we feel instinctively upon arrival at the Spring House, which was especially recommended to us on account of the celebrated baths connected with it, that we have found the right place. After an appetizing supper and refreshing night of restful slumber, the like of which this brain-wearied breadwinner had not known for months, we yield ourselves up to the charming influences of this beautiful home.

We begin taking a course of baths and then, indeed, did we begin to experience great results. We felt something of the old strength returning and under the influence of this life-giving atmosphere, also, something of our former exhilaration of spirits. These baths are the wonder of everybody and a great amount of money and effort have been expended to make them unsurpassed in this country and abroad. The establishment is complete in all its appointments. It contains sulphur baths, Turkish and Russian, with sulphur vapor, swimming bath, pulverization room, inhalation room for treatment of catarrh, bronchitis, etc., all under the management of Dr. Ransom. Of course, the proper thing to do, if one wishes to be made entirely whole, is to take the spring waters. They are the leading Natural White Sulphur Springs in the world. They are especially valuable as blood purifiers and for all rheumatic affections, gout, neuralgia and all liver troubles.

During the weeks of my stay, I have seen so many men and women whom, upon arrival, I thought quite decrepit with age and wearing expressions betokening repressed pain. In a short interval I could hardly recognize them, they had so straightened up their rheumatic and neuralgic bodies, their step had grown so firm and their countenances had so brightened under this tonic influence of water and air. When they departed, it was to take up life under new conditions. They had, as it were, taken out new life lease papers.

The rides are simply enchanting. Artists are scattered all about studying to reproduce the Eden-like scenery. Many of the places, to which excursions are daily made, are of historical moment. The ride to Cooperstown is of special interest being connected with many of the scenes in Cooper’s novels.

There are many well-known people who come year after year to this resort and always depart with renewed constitutions. That many of the patrons of our dear old Gazette may come and bathe in this fountain of perpetual youth is the disinterested desire of - Your Well Wisher, S. A. “

During their stay at the Spring House in August of 1892, they could meet people who were visiting from Troy, Buffalo, Binghamton, Utica, Washington D.C., Philadelphia,, Boston, New York and Montana - just to name a few places. There were, among others, presidents of businesses such as the Schenectady Locomotive Works and the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad; newspaper editors, artists, entertainers, judges, military men - even Countess Mae Caffey of Vienna, Austria.

The menus offered a daily variety of soup, fish, roast, entrees, vegetables, relishes, pastries, fruit, cheese, crackers, teas and coffee. Other menus were offered in honor of special occasions such as holidays or horse shows.

Aside from the rest and relaxation offered by making use of the new furniture in the parlor of the Spring House, they could participate in walks, a ride around the lake on the steamer T R. Proctor, tennis and a new Scottish game called ‘bowls’ introduced on the lawn of the Spring House, not to mention attending the many concerts and other entertainments offered each day. Visitors found that their every need would be taken care of during their visit here.

Houseplant Tip

It’s important to watch houseplants closely. According to gardenguides.com, an online gardening resource, you should inspect plants regularly for yellowing or discolored leaves. This condition is usually caused by overwatering, but can also be the result of insects. Deformed plants and sticky deposits on leaves and stems can be caused by insects as well.
